SITUATION AND DESCRIPTION

Waldrons Farm is a substantial former farmhouse conveniently situated on the eastern outskirts of Exeter. Both the M5 motorway and Exeter International Airport are within easy reach.

The property provides the most unusual combination of spacious and versatile family accommodation with an extensive range of workshops and light industrial units (with planning consent to use the land and buildings for car repairs), together with extensive parking and garaging. The site extends to approximately a third of an acre in total and would suit a variety of uses. It is likely to be of particular interest to those requiring lots of commercial space together with a substantial home.

The house itself retains considerable character and many of the rooms include exposed timbers. There is also double glazing and central heating. The accommodation provides a sitting room with an open fire, an attractive dining room with an Aga and an adjoining kitchen, a downstairs bedroom next to the study and utility room (with potential for a self contained annexe). On the first floor are 4 good size bedrooms (one with ensuite) and a most attractively appointed, spacious family bathroom. There are good sized lawned gardens which are ideal for young children and pets.
